

31 Canadian Brigade Group (31 CBG) was stood up on the 1st April 1997, headquartered in London Ontario, replacing the London Militia District (LMD). This activation, a result of a major army reorganization, established 31 CBG as one of ten reserve brigade groups across Canada. The 31 CBG badge was later approved and adopted on May 1, 1998. Gules an arrowhead Argent charged with a maple leaf Gules. The arrowhead recalls the former badge of the Western Ontario Area Headquarters.
