The 4th Canadian Division Training Centre is home to training so many of our soldiers from across the province! During the summer, this includes participants of the Grey Wolf program!

The Grey Wolf program is one of the Canadian Armed Forces' Indigenous Summer Programs. Every one of these programs, including Grey Wolf, begins with a culture camp led by local Elders and throughout the program participants will take part in training based on the Basic Military Qualification Course!

Applications are still open, find out more about the program and how to apply here:
